THE NEW D.R.

Two recently opened resorts have made Playa Grande—a seven-mile stretch of lush jungle abutting pristine beaches on the Dominican Republic's northern shore—the tropical getaway du jour. Playa Grande Beach Club comprises nine whitewashed bungalows charmingly appointed with a mix of Palm Beach-esque antiques and furniture by local craftsmen. Amanera brings Aman Resorts' signature zen to the region with 25 sleek hilltop casitas, each with sweeping views of the coastline. The property also boasts an extensive spa and a 370-acre golf course designed by Robert Trent Jones Sr.
